

Application for membership of the Scrimber interest group

Scrimber CSC processes low-grade wood from Swiss forests (and, in the long term, from Europe and North America) into high-quality, structurally sound building materials. The wood yield is around 90%. With regard to the industrial pilot plant, cooperation between the various local stakeholders, such as forest owners, wood marketers, wood processors and potential host communities, is important. The interest group also includes other non-local stakeholders and interested parties, such as universities for research and investors.

Purpose of the association:

To bring together all stakeholders interested in Scrimber and thus drive the development of Scrimber forward more quickly and effectively.
